I am so excited to bring the latest technology to Winds of Change. As many already know me, I strive to find the newest technologies for facial rejuvenation without causing more damage to the skin and without creating pain. I've seen what lasers, medical face lifting machines can create... more pain and harm. My methods are like going to a physical trainer, it takes time and consistency and the results will be long lasting to look your BEST. Depending on your skin condition, to get the best results you may need four to six treatments once a week, then monthly there after. I will incorporate some form of exfoliation treatment prior to the transdermal infusion. I will also be able to perform cellulite treatments with this technology as well. I can't wait for you to experience this new Skin Science Treatment.
